FLASH LICHT SIGNAL SYSTEM.

Probabilities of Its Introduction for the Police Department.

WOULD NOT COST VERY MUCH

Chief Hilton Wants It and Council Members of the Police Committee Will Recommend It.

Messrs. Cettrell, Hartenstein and Fernstrem, the Council committee on police, paid the department a visit yesterday afternoon, and made a thorough examination of police affairs. The present "cail" system was discussed by the committee and Chief Hilton, and it was suggested by the latter that the "flash light system" should be adopted by the department. It is understood that the committee is heartily in favor of a change in the plan of communicating from the station to officers when on their beat. By means of the flash light system the desk sergeant could call an officer by the simple process of pressing a button. A member of the committee stated to the "News" that if Chief Hilton desired the change the committee would stand by him. Chief Hilton says that the system can be inaugurated at a cost comparatively trivial.

AMUSEMENTS.

Tonight the Theater will enter upon one of the most interesting experiences which has been tried since the house changed hands. The management has long felt the justice of the complaints that have gone up regarding the inferfor character of the attractions being sent West, and also realized the financial loss the house was suffering by having so many unfilled dates. When the opportunity presented itself, therefore, to obtain a strong organization like that headed by Nance O'Neil and Clay Clement, and to book them for a two-weeks' term, the owners of the Theater decided to make the venture. Salt Lake will thus be given a taste of the stock company system which was once so popular at the Theater and which made the reputation of the Grand. The Nance O'Neil company comes with the highest recommenda-Miss O'Neil herself has the reputation of being one of the strongest young actresses on the American boards. Her leading man, Clay Clement, is too well known here to need word of commendation. Mc-Kee Rankin, manager of the company, to appears in several of the plays be rendered. Mrs. Clay Clement, a proble actress is another member of capable actress, is another member the company. The opening bill tonight will be Magda, a strong play on the emotional order, originally brought cut, we believe, by Modjeska. The bill will changed frequently and during stay here eight or ten plays will be presented.

The Bostonians closed their Salt Lake season yesterday in thoroughly brilliant fashion. The matinee of Robin Hood drew out a handsome audience Tuesday afternoon, and the verdict was that the popular work, which never seems to grow old, has seldom been bet-ter rendered. Mr. Barnabee was all mself as the sheriff of Nottingham Miss Van Dresser presented a perfect picture to the eye in the character of Alan A'Dale, and for her artistic ren-dering of "Promise Me" she gained a great recall. The hit she made on the opening night was repeated by her artistic delineation. Mr. Haw-ley, understudy for Mr. McDonald, was an excellent "Little John," and the other Mr. McDonald, while he has a big voice, is far below Eugene Cowles. Miss Bertrem rendered the part of Maid Marion with felicity and her work was heartily encored.

In the evening that popular and most clever work "The Serenade," drew another great audience. It was "under-study night," and at first there was some feeling of disappointment to find that Miss Bertram, Mr. Rushworth, the tenor, and Mr. McDonald, the baritone were not in the cast. This feeling soon wore away, however, and in the case of Miss Cameron a positive triumph was achieved. She sang the aria with flute obligate in most brilliant fashion, and got a triple encore for the admirable way in which she sustained her high "D." Mr. Knight, the tenor, did his one solo acceptably, but otherwise was unsatisfactory, Mr. Hawley is even better than the original Mr. McDonald. Mr. Dunsmore filled Cowles' place very acceptably and won some hearty recalls. The two features of the night again Mr. Barnabee in his most humorous part of the Duke, and Miss Dresser as Dolores, a role which has been filled here by both Jessie Bartlett Davis and Jennie Hawley. Miss Van Dresser's appearance was again enchanting, and while her voice is not that it might be, or doubtless will be with further experience, she obtained hearty recognition for her beautiful solo of "The Angelus." The company left for Butte last night. They play in the north for two weeks, then open in San Francisco, the feature of their engage-ment there being the first production of "The Viceroy," the new opera by Smith and Herbert, author and composer of

"The Serenade." At the Grand tonight "Uncle Tom's Cabin" goes for the last time. Tomor-row evening Lincoln J. Carter's "Remember the Maine" will be seen for three nights and a Saturday matinee.

The subscription concert of the Orpheus club, the first of the present season, occurs at the Congregational church tomorrow night. Besides the club Mr. Glen Hall, tenor, Miss Hales, an eastern violinist, and Mr. Arthur Shepherd, planist, will appear.

Last evening L. B. Sutton, a street car conductor, swore to a complaint be-fore Judge Timmony, charging a young man named J. E. Wiscomb with as-sault and battery. Sutton, whose face bore evidence of a severe mauling, stated that the assault was absolutely without provocation. He said that Wis-comb threw his (Sutton's) hat in the mud and then struck him with an um-brella. Officer Palmer placed Wiscomb under arrest, but he was released by furnishing $10 to secure his appearance on the linoleum.

Smith, who by the way, are members in full of the felloship "Original Association of Walking Delegates," were rudely disturbed while plying their honest (?) vocation last night. They had succeeded in collecting a large assortment of dimes, etc., etc., over credulous pedestrians when their blissful pastime was cut short by Officer Chase. The information that a family brawl was in progress at 56 west Third South was the cause of a lively run to the scene by Officer Chase. Then a scene followed that was simply a circus to the newsboys. The officer held the unknown in the mud until the natural arrived. in the mud until the patrol arrived. At the station the fellow flatly refused to divulge his cognomen.

George McKee, the boy tramp who was at the station the other evening, has a friend in Salt Lake in the per-son of Attorney B. X. Smith, who came here from Galesburg, Ills. Attorney Smith says that the boy's father, Es-quire Thomas McKee, was at one time a very prominent figure in cen-tral Illinois, and the family is a good Attorney Smith regrets that the youngster did not give him a call.

It has finally been ascertained who it was that purloined a set of brass mounted harness from E. P. Yowells stable in Richard street. Several days ago Officer Sperry obtained a clue as to the identity of the thief and he has hung on to it like grim death. The harness was stolen on the night of Jan-uary 9th by John Williams, a young man who is now being held to answer to the charge of housebreaking. Wil-liams disposed of the harness to a second hand dealer at 149 State street. Today Officer Sperry and the second hand dealer visited the county jail where Williams is incarcerated, and he was positively identified as the one who sold the harness. A few days ago young Williams entered a man's room in the Roberts block and stole several articles of jewelry, for which he was held to await the action of the district court.

One evil that cannot come alone is impure blood. If this as allowed, it is attended by kindred ailments galore. Large Number and Hany Varieties of Birds Shown-Awards Being Made by the Judges.

Nos. 17 and 19 east First South street. It is said by good judges to be the finest collection of birds yet brought together by the association. Not only is the collection fine in quality, but it is the largest ever exhibited in Utah as shown by the number of entries, which aggregate 1,200.

W. W. Browning is acting as judge and is busy scoring the birds. From the score cards it is seen that the poultry raisers of Utah are paying strict attention to the fine points of breeding, there being many birds which are as near pertection as it is possible to bring them. One thing that makes this exhibit show to better advantage than those given before is owing to the larger room in which it is held. The pens are not so crowded and the advantage is gained of being able to group var-

The major portion of the exhibit is composed of chickens but there are unusually large numbers of turkeys. geese and ducks, besides Belgian hares, and Madagascar rabbits. The plymouth rocks are as usual the most popular breed of chickens and the exhibit is very large of all three of the varieties, barred buff and white. Next in point of favor are the cochins with the leghorns a close third. The display of bantams is very large Patrick Farrell and James Augustus the bright plumaged Japanese.

Some very fine pens of geese are shown, notably two pens that come from Utah county. The pigeon cages contain very many fine birds of all breeds and always has a crowd of admirers around them. The ducks and geese are also away above the aver-

WILL NOT AFFECT DEEP CREEK ROAD

Speaking of the report published in last night's "News" that the Utah & Pacific and California Eastern would make connection and thus complete a route through to Los Angeles, Mr. Twomey said today: "Should the report prove to be true, and the extensions made, our project would remain entirely unaffected. Our line is primarily a Deep Creek road, being constructed for the purpose of furnishing transportation facilities for the development of the mines out there. What may be done in the matter of extension after that remains for the future to developour object now is to reach Deep Creek." The projectors of this railway plan are confident that the mines of Deep Creek will furnish sufficient tonnage to make the line pay; and the building of the road would certainly increase the senting the city of St. Louis today made application before Judge Kohlsaat, of the U. S. district court, for an injunction to restrain the board of trustees of the sanitary district from turning the sewage of the Chicago river into the Desplaines river. Judge Kohlsaat set Saturday, January 20, as the date for hearing arguments on the question, when it is believed a legal battle will take place. The bill for the injunction, which was filed last night, is signed by Mayor Zeigenheim of St. Louis. The bill claims that the waters of the Mississippi will be poisoned by the sewage of the Chicago river; that the water works system of St. Louis, constructed at a cost of $20,000,000, will be rendered valueless. The bill is accompanied by an affidavit from Dr. W. E. Techmann, city chemist of St. Louis, combatting the theory of dilution of sewage in water as intended to be applied to the Chicago drainage canal, and cialming the sewage will pollute the Mississippi to a point where its waters will be unfit to drink.
